

Building on the successful 2006 Social Centres gathering in January 2006 in Leeds, the next social centres gathering is being hosted by the long- running I in 12 social centre in Bradford. The aim is to develop relationships between the different social centres projects across the UK, share skills, develop the network, and build upon some of the successful initiatives social centres are involved in.

The day will include plenaries and workshops on:

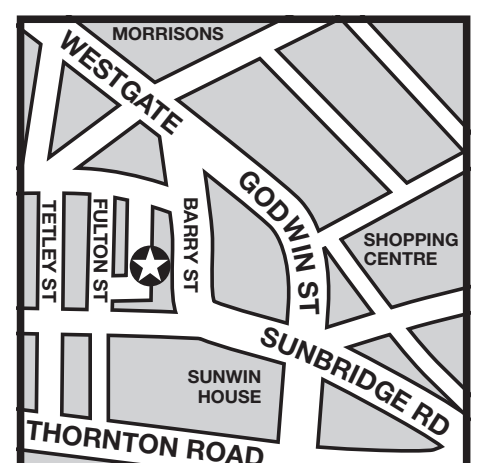

- ★ developing the social centres network – strategies and tactics
- ★ developing/sharing and resources and skills
- ★ producing social centre pamphlets/books/zines
- ★ launching a UK social centres website
- ★ developing and supporting struggles around migration, climate change and work exploitation, whilst creating alternatives
- ★ undertaking network-wide actions and initiatives

The gathering will only be as good as the people there! Spread info about this gathering within your social centres and come to Bradford with ideas. If you have a proposal or want to start up a centre come along and get involved.

Food will be provided by the I in 12 Cafe. Music and entertainment by the Sex Patels, Spanner and BeyONd TV. Accommodation is available but please get in touch: clubmail@lin12.com

Sunday will include practical skill share sessions.
